FIRST OFF... I know it's spring... baseball season has started. For as long as I can remember, I've enjoyed watching people execute & perform live whether it be music, dance, theater, or sports. To see someone pull off an incredible feat before your eyes rather than on tv is a once in a lifetime thrill. As the years have passed & entertainment of all sorts has become big business controlled by corporations, that feeling has become a lost pleasure. New stadiums are built geared for corporate boxes high above the field where people eat catered food & drink martinis. Meanwhile you can't even sit in the "cheap" seats anymore for less than a week's pay. I won't mind seeing the empty AIG section at Yankee Stadium. I'm a fan so I'll still root, root, root for the home team and hope they give it back to the people at some point. Shop local, and keep the community strong, vital and real.

THIS MONTH'S GUEST COLUMN by Linda Justice

A RANDOM ACT OF KINDNESS by Linda Justice

The local newspapers fill us with dismal stories that we digest with our morning coffee. Rarely do stories of kindness get printed. Here's one.

It was the summer and I was returning home from vacation. I stopped to purchase a money order for my rent. It was a warm, sunny day, so I decided to get a coffee and sit in the sun like a cat at St. Mark's Church. I was carrying a book, into which I slipped my newly purchased blank money order. I lounged on the bench for a while and then meandered on home. There, I visited with my cat and began straightening up and putting things away, when all of a sudden I remembered the money order. Quickly I searched my book – it was gone! I looked around the apartment for anyplace that I might have haphazardly placed it. In a panic I retraced every step. This was the whole month's rent, hundreds of dollars. I frantically searched and searched. The realization hit me that it must have fallen out-- but where? At the park! It had been well over an hour, perhaps even two since I'd been there. I sat down, head in hand, thinking about being late with the rent and wondering how I could have been so dumb. I then decided that I owed it to myself to at least return to the park and look.

I arrived at the park scoping the ground with my eyes, bending this way and that, and peering under the bench where I had previously sat, when suddenly a nicely-dressed middle-aged black man, wearing a light blue shirt, I'll never forget the color of that shirt, stopped me and asked, "What are you looking for?" "A money order," I responded. He opened the book he was holding revealing the money order. "I almost gave up on you. I've been waiting and waiting for you to return, I almost went on home!"

I was speechless. Then I said, "Can I please give you a token of my gratitude?" He waved the idea away, saying, "No, no. I understand." He didn't even give me a look that said, "Gee you must be stupid." He was just thankful that he had waited and was able to help. I never saw this man again. I was shocked, knowing full well he could easily have cashed this money order for hundreds of dollars. I can't say that I would have been so heroic, and it taught me. Right in the middle of Manhattan, right in the heart of the East Village, a act that taught me so much about kindness. I have always wanted to share this story.■

SOUTHERN CULTURE ON THE SKIDS--SANTO SWINGS  Other than the obvious truth in the title, this disc is a lot of fun to listen to. Steeped in surf rock with twangy guitars and heavy echoed vocals, this group has a blast playing in this style and their cover of the 1966 hit "Double Shot of My Baby's Love", done in spanish, is a hoot. I give it 3 bones. See you next time on the corner...

Closing Statement: "Bad habits are like a comfortable bed, easy to get into and hard to get out of" -unknown
