FIRST OFF... With the temperatures rising, August is a good time to check out the local greenery like the 6B Garden, La Plaza Cultural on 9th & C & a number of other gardens on various sidestreets in the village. They can always use support & offer a peaceful oasis with a breeze. With business slowing up, it's also important to support your local merchants so they'll be here come the fall. Stay hydrated, think cool thoughts!

GUEST COLUMN OF THE MONTH

Guest Column of the Month

THE STREET ©irca 1985

The Street has eyes and ears
It knows the height of your dreams
The depth of your fears

The Street has a mind it knows Where you're comin from Where you're gonna go the walkin lame, they lie in the streets takin notes on what they see the tailored suits, the orange haired youths the junkies, the gentry, the beasleys and the wannabees

The Street has eyes and ears
It knows what you loathe
And what you hold dear

The Street has a heart and soul It'll give you that bounce in your walk Trip you with it's holes the huntin lame, they lurk in the shadows justa waitin on their prey and with a "godblessyoubrotha,canyouspareanothadolla?" they take your money and send you on your way the hungry lame, they search all the cans for the special of the day and when they fill their sack, they get a dollar back it's survival of the fittest

The Urban Way

The Street it plays its game
It remembers faces
But it don't know names

The Street it plays its game and no matter who you are The Rules are the same

RAUL MIDON • STATE OF MIND ... Acoustic soul is the best way to describe this smokin disc by guitarist/songwriter Raul Midon. With excellent acoustic guitar playing, percussion, top notch guests (Stevie Wonder on harmonica) and sparse but right on the money arrangements, Midon gets to show off his vocal & instrumental chops throughout. I've been listening to this a lot & I'm still not tired of it. This is a cool breeze in the midst of a hot summer. Kick back with an iced tea & check it out. See you next time on the corner.

Closing Statement: We must always change, renew, rejuvenate ourselves; otherwise we harden. -Goethe
